Vocational Training

A Bridge to Employment Upon Release

Badu Minimum Security Prison adopts a low-security management model, emphasizing the socialization of correctional efforts.

This allows inmates to gradually adapt to social life, and through professional vocational training, builds a stable bridge for inmates from prison to society.

Training Goals: A Complete Solution for Social Reintegration

Diverse Vocational Training

Providing practical skills training such as forklift operation, fixed crane operation, hotel room service, and architectural insulation film application, closely integrated with market demand.

Professional Certification Acquisition

Training content emphasizes practical skills and certification exams to enhance the employment competitiveness of inmates, enabling them to possess a skill upon release.

Corporate Partnership Mechanism

Actively cooperating with businesses to promote off-site work programs, creating more employment opportunities and supporting inmates' successful reintegration into society.

Through comprehensive training and guidance mechanisms, we aim to achieve the goal of "reforming and improving, diligently earning a living," reducing recidivism, and promoting social safety and harmony.
